Nicholas Kneale

It is with great sadness that we announce the death of Nicholas Kneale. He died at home on Friday 26th October, having endured a particularly aggressive cancer over the past few months. He was 71. Nicholas lived in Rosemary Cottage just off the Somerton Road with his wife Gurli and was the founder and creative director of Fired Earth. With his former wife Hilary they raised three children in North Aston - Olivia, Tilly and Will. On behalf of everyone in the village I send our heartfelt condolences to the whole family. The funeral will be at North Aston church on Friday 9th November at 11.00 am.

Defibrillator

The more observant of you will have noticed the shiny yellow box housing the village defibrillator attached to my front porch (4 Somerton Road). If you haven't, I suggest you familiarise yourself with its location as you might be glad of it one day. I had to cancel the previously advertised training session as only one person booked in. So I thought I would try a different tack - if you would like to have some basic training in CPR and defib familiarisation, please let me know which days of the week and time of day would suit you. Then I can work out when best to run the next session. It takes about 90 minutes.

Village Forum

Our next forum is Thursday 8th November, 7.30pm in The Bakery. We will be discussing Christmas events (any volunteers to organise a children's Christmas party?) and hopefully progress the kerbing of The Village Green project.

Having done three years as village chairperson I will stand down at the end of the January meeting. It would be great to have a replacement sorted sooner rather than later, so if you think it could be you, but would like some more information, please don't hesitate to contact me. If someone as administratively disorganised and socially inept as me can do it, anyone can!

Announcements

Planning Applications

Notice of the following Planning Applications has been received:

North Aston Farms. Many residents will have received notification of the application by North Aston Farms for the creation of a localised District Heating System to serve multiple dwellings within the village. This will involve change of use for approximately 163 square metres of what is currently residential garden land behind 1 Somerton Road, and the associated construction of a single-storey Energy Centre Plant Store.

In addition, an underground network of pipes will then distribute the heat to more than 20 properties within the village. This will require groundworks within Beesley's Close, along the north side of Somerton Road from the Old Bakery to the western corner of the Green (including the full length of the Green itself), and cross-road excavations opposite New Cottages and the driveway to Rosemary Cottage.

For clarification, see plan on page 8. More information will be given at the forthcoming Village Forum. Submitted by North Aston Farms. Consultation expiry date 5th November. Statutory expiry date: 5th December. Reference 18/01711/F.

North Aston Mill. The new owners have applied to replace the roof covering to the main section of the Mill. Submitted by Mr & Mrs James Hawker. Consultation expiry date 16th November. Statutory expiry date: 14th December. Reference 18/01782/LB.

North Aston Hall. Update. Reinstatement of pitched roof over North Aston Hall, with dormer windows removed and rooflights added. Submitted by Oakmere Property Management. Application has been validated and a decision is imminent. Reference 17/02377/F.

Full details are available to view on the Cherwell District Council website: <https://www.cherwell.gov.uk> and follow the links, using the application references quoted above.

Bonfire Night!

Bonfire Night falls on a Monday this year. Please remember that it is illegal to let off fireworks after 11:00 pm on any other day except the 5th. If you're planning on having a fireworks party on any other evening, then please advise your neighbours so that pets can be kept safely indoors. Call Deirdre on 340646 and email info@north-aston.co.uk with details.

Saturday November 3rd
(No later than 11:00 pm)

Sunday November 4th
(No later than 11:00 pm)

North Aston Nature Notes

With Stephen Rees

I hope you are all ready for the cold weather? Logs chopped and oil tanks filled?

By the time you read this the clocks will have gone back and I will be walking Penny in the dark again. The bantams will have gone to bed before we are home, and the change seems to come round faster each year.

A good few things to tell you about this month: On the penultimate Saturday of October Wendy, Penny and I had a nice medium-size walk around the fields, seeing a pair of Muntjac in a wood and four Roe Deer feeding in the rough below Cover Wood. We and had a good view of them. There were two does and a lovely buck, with his new antlers out of velvet and looking very stocky and healthy, as well as one of this year's youngsters.

On the walk to the wood I'm sure I saw a pair of Fieldfares, but it feels too early for them to be here yet.

I know it wasn't in North Aston, but talking of deer, I was metal detecting in a field next to a big wood last month, and thought I heard a funny noise, so took off my headphones. I heard the noise again. It was a big Fallow Deer buck calling out, grunting and groaning, right in the middle of his rut. It was an amazing sound, and almost prehistoric.

We still have George, our one-eared rabbit. Three weeks ago I saw a one-legged Rook doing well for itself, rummaging amongst some rubbish in a town. Nature is very resilient.

Three weeks ago we were inundated by Ladybirds. They were everywhere! There were big ones, small ones, different coloured ones. They were getting everywhere! Then, the following week, it was spiders walking anywhere. Biking along the headgerow lanes, we were covered in cobwebs, though they did look beautiful in the early mornings, stretched between posts on fences, rails on gates and holding the dew like little tiny light bulbs.

Despite my comments in the October News, I have found a few mushrooms. In fact, I had a hat-full once, and then a week later, discovered another ring of them in the same place. There have been a good few fungi of different sizes and colours growing on rotting wood and on the floor of the woodland around the village as well.

I was sat in a queue of traffic trying to get to Wantage the other day. On my right-hand side, close by the road, was a large recently-cultivated field. It crossed my mind to wonder how many Roman coins might be under it, and where they might be, when a red-legged Partridge got up and started to walk about. I hadn't even seen it, but then another moved, and another, and another! I counted thirteen in total. Their camouflage was so perfect that I'd not spotted even one of them until they moved. I hope they make it through the shooting season.

Wendy wife tells me a Tawny Owl is calling most nights outside our window. I've not heard it even once! My head hits the pillow and that's me gone for the night.

One other thing: Everywhere I walk at the moment I seem to be hearing and seeing Long-tail Tits. Is it just me, or are there lots of them about this year?

Any time now the Woodcock will be coming back. Please let us know if you see one. They are my favourite bird!

Finally this month, my best mate Fred's Dad has passed away. Any long-time residents of North Aston will remember him as a true sportsman, shooting only for the pot and teaching us young boys about birds eggs, trees and how to respect nature and other people. I will remember him with fondness. Wendy and I saw him a few weeks ago, sat on a wall by the canal, enjoying the view, and that is how I will remember him. Goodbye Jim.

That's all for now, Steve, Wendy & Penny

Nottingham Knockers

Please read this! We have occasionally mentioned this unsavoury problem before, but it came to a head last month when one young lad turned aggressive when turned away from a door in North Aston. He had previously behaved abusively in Somerton, and was also spotted in Duns Tew. He was reported to the police.

This problem will not go away by itself. For so long as some people fall for the scam, and buy from the doorstep, these lads will continue to come round pedalling their sub-standard household wares. We must be unified in turning them away, and only then will they stop coming.

Thames Valley Police urge us not to be hoodwinked by the sob-stories. This is a cover for something more sinister. The bag of products they carry is sold to the lads by the man who employs them. The theory is, they can keep whatever surplus they make on sales ... but they rarely make much.

They are dropped off from a minivan and do the rounds, knocking on doors to offer their cleaning items, most of which are poor quality. They know that, and you know that, but they tug at your heartstrings until you give in, buying an overpriced duster just to get rid of them.

The total usually comes to a note – typically £10. When the householder comes back with the money, the lad examines the condition of the note and considers how long it took the person to find it. They can learn a lot from that, and from any conversations they begin. They will make a note of suitable addresses, especially if the householder is elderly, alone, vulnerable or seems gullible, and these details are handed on to the 'employer'. Good "intelligence" may be rewarded with a cash bonus. These addresses are sold on, and if (when?) there's a subsequent and profitable break-in, the 'employer' gets a further cut. These lists are also bought by other dodgy dealers, including odd-jobbers, tarmacers, jobbing gardeners, roofers, and cowboy builders etc.

The address can be repeatedly sold on, which is why the Knockers keep coming back. In almost every case these lads have a long string of convictions, for burglary and violence, and they use their skills to identify possible targets.

If any salesperson comes to your door, ask to see their Pedlar's Certificate. These are only issued to individuals under strict conditions. If you are targeted by Knockers, call TVP immediately on 101 with a description and information about any vehicle they may be using. Do not buy from them!

This month's updates and information

North Aston Break-in

On 29th October, there was a break-in at The Old Post Office in North Aston. Colin and Joyce Rainbow report that their garage was targeted, but the would-be thieves may have been frightened off by the security lights, which responded swiftly to the activity. Did you see anything? Was there a vehicle parked briefly by the Fountain that Monday night? Rumours of a crock of gold at the end of the garden are thought to be untrue, but if you have any information that might help, please call TVP on 101.

Steeple Aston Vehicle Assault

On Tuesday 30th October a car parked in Cow Lane, Steeple Aston, was the subject of an attempted theft. The side window was smashed. The attack is believed to have taken place late at night, or in the early hours. Were you in the area at the time, and did you spot anything? A man with a torch and hoodie was spotted nearby but may be unconnected.

Too much knocking

As mentioned elsewhere, North Aston continues to be a target for the so-called Nottingham Knockers. If you're a computer user, and have a Facebook account, then join the local community pages for North Aston, Duns Tew, Somerton and Steeple Aston, and get regular warnings of activity from these undesirable visitors. If you're not "socially active" on-line, then please do be aware that these door-knockers are not what they might seem. Do not buy from them, and certainly never invite them into your home.

NOW'S THE TIME FOR PLANTING

As a team we are passionate about horticulture and simply love sharing our knowledge.

Our range of plants extends to all the usual suspects: shrubs, a small herbaceous collection, climbers, fruit and we specialise in bigger screening plants and specimen ornamental trees.

Park Farm have had a lovely month full of various activities. We have enjoyed going on walks around North Aston and Blenheim after dinner as group, which has been really fun! We have also held a German theme night, where one of our young people made a spread of traditional German foods and made a fact file on Germany for us all to read.

We have also participated in a charity bike ride raising money for Macmillan Cancer Support, where staff and all our young people took it in turns to ride a bike over a 24 hour period. One weekend towards the end of October we had a Pudding Club after dinner, where we indulged in strudel, cakes and ice cream. During Pudding Club each of our residents took it in turn to discuss a news article they have read. We have also been to the cinema and played our first Christmas song in the house to begin the countdown!

Our residents were really looking forward to Halloween and enjoyed thinking of their outfits. Overall, Park Farm have had a very good month and we are looking forward to everything we have planned in the next couple of months!

How do you get The News?

Every household in the village receives a printed copy of the North Aston News, delivered by hand each month. In addition, many residents also get a full-colour PDF version emailed to them, as do a growing number of former residents, family members and people in neighbouring parishes, as well as Family Historians who, despite having no current ties with North Aston, still value their ancestral links with this community.

Recently we've had requests from a number of residents who'd like to save on paper by taking only the electronic version. Whilst this is a laudable intent, it's an added complication to our delivery system for so long as the total numbers asking to opt-out remain so small. Would there be more demand for this? If you think it worthwhile, let us know by emailing info@north-aston.co.uk. If we get into double figures, then we will implement the change.

Back in May new GDPR laws came into effect, and about a dozen residents never responded to our request for permission to continue sending them the PDF edition of the News. If you'd like to be restored to the mailing list - or added, if you've never received the full-colour version before - send us a request to info@north-aston.co.uk.

Roll of Honour 1914-1918

This month we mark 100 years since the Armistice which brought an end to the First World War in November 1918.

Some 53 residents of North Aston served during the conflict that came to be known as the Great War. Of those, nine gave their lives to King and Country, and we remember them today.

John Dore. Private. The son of John and Mary Dore, he served in the 12th Labour Battalion, Princess Charlotte of Wales's Royal Berkshire Regiment. He died from illness contracted whilst on active service in Flanders, and is buried in Plot F, Row 3, Grave 8, Calais Southern Cemetery.

Albert Victor Lewis. Private. The son of Thomas and Emma Lewis, he also served in Princess Charlotte of Wales's (Royal Berkshire) Regiment, 5th Battalion, having transferred from the Oxon & Bucks Light Infantry. He went missing, presumed killed, on 28th April 1917, and is remembered on Bay 7 of the The Memorial at Faubourg-D'Amiens Cemetery, Arras.

Thomas Pakenham, 5th Earl Longford. Brigadier General commanding 2nd South Midland Mounted Brigade of the 2nd Mounted Division. Died 21st August 1915 whilst leading an attack on Scimitar Hill during the Battle of Sari Blair, Gallipoli. His body was never recovered, but he is remembered on a memorial in Green Hill Cemetery, Suvla, Turkey.

James Mobbs. Rifleman. 1st/18th Battalion London Regiment, the London Irish Rifles. Son of John and Annie Mobbs. Died 7th April 1917, lost without trace. His name is inscribed on Panel 54 of the Menin Gate, Ypres.

Jesse Sykes. Sergeant, New Zealand Medical Corps. Son of Henry and Martha Sykes of Dane Hill. He survived the war, but succumbed to the global influenza epidemic on 17th November 1918 whilst serving at the Featherstone Training Unit in New Zealand. He was 29 years old, leaving a wife, Jane Rebecca. He is buried in grave 608 of Featherston Cemetery, New Zealand.

Norman Sykes. Rifleman, 1st Battalion, The Prince Consort's Own, The Rifle Brigade. Younger brother of Jesse. Wounded while taking part in the attack on the Quadrilateral Redoubt (Heiden Kopf) at the end of Serre Road, Norman subsequently died from his injuries, aged 20. It was the opening day of the Battle of the Somme; 1st July 1916. He is buried in Thistle Dump Cemetery, High Wood, Longueval, Picardie, The Somme.

Henry Ward. Private, 1st/4th Battalion the Oxfordshire & Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. Son of Henry and Emily Ward (of Marston, near Oxford). Died 23rd July 1916, aged 17. Buried in Pozières British Cemetery, Ovillers, Boisselle, Picardie, The Somme. Although listed in North Aston's Roll of Honour, Henry's connections with the village are unclear.

Frederick Cecil Woolgrove. Corporal, 7th Battalion, the Queen's Own Royal West Surrey Regiment. The son of Joseph and Annie Woolgrove. Died from wounds sustained 9th December 1915, aged 24. Buried Plot 1, Row B, Grave 6 of Corbie Communal Cemetery near Amiens, France.

Henry Wyatt. Private, 364th Company Base Mechanical Transport Depot, Army Service Corps. Son of Henry (Harry) and Emma Wyatt, and husband of Gertrude Eliza and father to Dorothy. Henry died 2nd September 1918 from wounds sustained in action, aged 32. He is buried in Plot 4, Row F, Grave 4 of Les Baraques Military Cemetery, Sangatte, Calais.

The Church MATTERS

Remembrance 100

On Sunday November 11th we will gather as we do on Remembrance Sunday every year, to remember those who gave their lives in war that we might live in peace. We will be silent, we will sing, we will pray and we will listen together - to words of Scripture, to poetry, to the promise of better things to come.

This year marks the centenary of the end of the First World War. The end of that war is why we mark Remembrance on November 11th. But the 100 year mark is, in all the important ways, just a number. More important than marking even such significant numbers are the people involved.

For example, there were the Sykes brothers, sons of Henry and Martha Jane Sykes, of Lime Kiln Cottages on Dane Hill. Rifleman Norman William Sykes died on July 1st, 1916. He was 20 years old. July 1st 1916 was the first day of the Battle of the Somme; that terrible day alone saw over 57,000 British casualties. Norman Sykes is buried at Thistle Dump Cemetery, Highwood, Longueval.

Norman's brother, Sergeant Jesse Sykes, fought in the New Zealand Expeditionary Force, and was subsequently buried in Featherston Cemetery, Wellington Province, New Zealand. His wife Jane lived in Christ Church NZ. That's a long way from North Aston! Tragically, Jesse did not die in battle. He passed away on November 17th 1918, days after the Armistice was signed, during the second (and deadliest) phase of the great Spanish Flu pandemic. It's reckoned that between 15-19 million people (soldiers and civilians) died in the First World War; between 50-100 million people died in the Spanish Flu pandemic. Jesse was 29 years old.

We read these names along with all the fallen of the First and the Second World War every year because they are not just names. They may be unknown to many of us now, but they remembered by some and are all loved and known by God. In silence we recall that they left everything in the hope that we who come after them might have a better future. In the silence, we are faced with this question: how are we handling that hope? In a hundred years time, will anyone remember our names? Will anyone think that what we lived for was worth a moment's thought? Is there anything so vital to us that we would give up everything and risk dying?

Christian faith has at its core Jesus, who gave up heaven and died on an earthly Cross, rising again three days later to show that you and I were worth more than everything to him. Christian faith proclaims that God's love for us was more precious than anything, and that as a result of his sacrifice, there will come a day when remembering brings only joy, and every tear will be wiped away from every eye. Please come and join us on Remembrance Sunday - 9.30am in church.

Words & Music for Advent

We are very grateful to Nick & Heather Cleobury for organising 'Words and Music for Advent', a wonderful concert with singers from London and wonderful young musicians joining us in Steeple Aston Church on December 1st. It promises to be a terrific start to all our preparations for Christmas. Tickets are available from the Steeple shop, and all proceeds will go towards the Steeple Church Building Project. Please do come and enjoy this glorious occasion with us!
